PROVO CITY. - MAY 9, 1895

DEMOCRATIC LIFE.

We have at last our new constitution framed. It is in the main a good one, worthy of the support of all the people, because, if faithfully obeyed and guarded, it will tend to develop in Utah, pride in the state, patriotism, and to guard the interests of all classes of people, of all pursuits and of all shades of political and religious opinions impartially. From a democratic standpoint of observation it deserves to be elected because it will serve these high purposes and also because although there was a republican majority in the convention, yet the result is not disadvantageous to our party interests. That it will be so elected, there can now be no doubt, and in this connection we are only interested in securing a democratic administration to inaugurate it, and apply the benign principles of democracy to the task of forming the earliest state policy under this most admirable constitution.

Hence it is that we deem the policy of the Herald in regard to its ruthless attempt to arouse bad feeling in democratic ranks now, as most wicked and faithless from a party point of view. There was not the slightest necessity or provocation for Mr. Dinwiddie's letter, and after it was written there was still less excuse for its publication—especially in the columns of the leading democratic paper of the territory. Its writing and its publication were both admirably calculated to stir up strife among the democrats and no other political party in Utah, and just why the Herald wished such a conflict, as a democrat, we cannot possibly see. It is inexplicable upon any other theory than that Mr. Dinwiddie was, for reasons best known to himself, after the scalp-locks of the leaders of the church; and the Herald, for reasons only known to itself, was intent upon defending the said leaders of the church. If the Herald were only, or principally a church paper, the course it pursued would have been the correct one, but being only a party paper, only a democratic organ, it had no more business to take up the cudgels for the church leaders than it has to start upon a grubby expedition to the moon, especially after the severe and cruel rubbing and most contemptuous treatment its editor has received at the hands of the church organ repeatedly within the last few months. It really seems that that individual cannot be choked off from the official relations to the church which, as editor of its organ, he once enjoyed, any more than he can be inducted into the duties pertaining to his present position of editor of the democratic organ of the party in Utah.

Mr. Dinwiddie made the charge that Mr. Cannon favored and labored for the election of the republican candidate for congress, using his high position in the church as an adjunct to the fight, and a most potent one at that. As the democratic organ the Herald rushes to Mr. Cannon's defense, and while defending him assails Mr. Dinwiddie savagely. It was effective work, but after all, it was just the work which the democratic organ should have done, especially from a non-church standpoint? While wholesome for Mr. Cannon and his church this defense by the leading democratic paper in Utah has not contributed to the preservation of the democratic life, which latter should be to it, as a democratic organ, its chief concern. "Ye cannot serve God and Mammon" was never truer than in this instance. Ye cannot serve the church, any church, and the democracy (Mammon if you please) at the same time. The whole attack and most unfortunate defense while it hasn't injured the church appreciably has cruelly injured the democratic party and endangered its life by stirring up strife and bitterness, where the organ should have given us peace and harmony by refusing the publication of Dinwiddie's screed.

This Tribune is entirely too severe upon the News agent's article on the "Present, the Past and the Future." It reaches a judgment hardly warranted by what the News did say. Both the manifesto and the Edmunds-Tucker act settled polygamous living from and after the passage of the act and the issuance of the manifesto. There was no living out the polygamous relation till death. It was in both cases "quit now," and we are among those who believe that it did so "quit," save in about the per cent. of cases which would be found in other states and other churches than those of Utah. In this, of course, we take the ground that the Mormons are neither better nor worse than other people. However we may say that entering the relation as many of them did from a sense of religious duty, they deserve the pity of the world for the violent severance of ties, which, if against the law and against the manifesto, as it afterwards appeared, was nevertheless very tender as well as very powerful. But all that is gone and past, and it were far better to permit it to remain where it has been buried, a bitter memory of a troubled and, in many respects, a peculiar past. We cannot, of course, determine the worth of the grounds upon which the News based its article because it does not state them. It is not sufficient for that paper to say that it hears that a list of 200 names have been prepared, against whom serious will be sought. Who are those who prepared the list? And who are they who are thus threatened? Such article should have only solid facts behind it, and not mere rumors. These are ticklish times for Utah and we must have only the best of reasons for putting in peril the statehood for which the people have striven so long.

The Tribune should not be too hard upon the Herald. That paper is a little like the man who stayed too long at his cups and reached the conclusion that he alone was sober and all the balance of the world was drunk. Now the Herald is crazy itself and but imagines that THE DISPATCH is a lunatic assigning as a reason that it lives too near the asylum of the insane at Provo. By that rule we should regard all the people of Salt Lake, including the Tribune, crazy, because they live within a stone's throw of the Herald office.

SO FAR as we can see, from a careful examination of the completed constitution, it is a document which, if the people of Utah will live up to clearly, they will be a happy and well protected people, both as to their freedom and their property rights. It is a far higher grade of constitution than nine out of every ten of the new western states have. Honestly lived up to, it will prove a wall of granite about the liberties of the people.

THAT is a queer warfare which is going on between the Manti Messenger and the Ogden Standard. The different meanings of the words "may" and "will" furnish the contention. The Messenger says Utah may be a state in '96, and the Standard says it will. That is all. It is needless to say that it is a subscription scheme, pure and simple.

THE Herald rather mildly both praises and blames President Edward Partridge of Utah state, for indulging in a little politics in his inaugural address to the church in Provo. THE DISPATCH's rule that high churchmen should stay out of politics altogether, the Herald will find, is by far the safest in every way.

WE welcome all who come to the side of silver now, to the democratic, because it is the only party which has the ghost of a chance to restore the money metal of the ages. Let St. John, Vorhees, Crisp, and all of the sinners come into the free silver gospel tent and work out their own salvation with fear and trembling.

MR. FRANK CANNON was in Provo yesterday. Some of the faithful put him into a carriage and exhibited him to the admiring citizens. He goes east again tonight. He is sanguine as to the success of the Utah company in the near future.

THE Standard and Park City Record are afraid that Salt Lake will make capital out of the silver convention on the 15th. We hope she will. It is a great honor to her and we feel she really deserves it.

THE war between the Herald and the Tribune on account of the latter's report of Friday night's meeting is still on, and has lost none of its original bitterness.

Ogden need not bother about Mr. Breeden in connection with the governorship. The democracy have other views at present.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, then by destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength, by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. E. J. The Discovery Saved His Life.

Mr. G. Caillotte, Druggist, Beavers ville, Ill., says: "To Dr. King's New Discovery I owe my life. Was taken with La Grippe and tried all the physicians for miles about, but of no avail and was given up and told I could not live. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in my store I sent for a bottle and began its use and from the first dose began to get better, and after using three bottles was up and about again. It is worth its weight in gold. We won't keep store or house without it. Get a true trial at Smoot Drug Co."

In 1895.

HARPER'S WEEKLY is a pictorial history of the times. It presents every important event promptly, accurately, and exhaustively in all its details and descriptive text of the highest order. The war in which, during 1894, it has treated the Chinese Boxer and the Russo-Japanese War, and the amount of light it was able to throw on Korea, the instant attention was directed to that little-known country, are examples of its most boundless resources. The distinguished American writer and correspondent, has been sent to the seat of war, and there joined by C. D. WALKER, the well-known American journalist, now for many years resident of Japan, who has been engaged to co-operate with Mr. Walker in editing HARPER'S WEEKLY, exclusive information and illustration.

During 1895 every question will be discussed with wit and without prejudice in the editorial columns, and also in special articles by the latest authorities in each department. Portraits of the men and women who are making history, and powerful and caustic political cartoons, will continue to be characteristic features. This Busy World, which has been a keen and timely comment on the lesser day of the day, will remain a regular department.

The volume will be two powerful articles, full handsomely illustrated. The Red Cockade, a stirring romance of olden days by SEYMOUR J. WAX, and a novel of New York entitled "The Son of the Father," by BRANDEN MATTHEWS—several novelettes, and many short stories by popular writers.
